Sign Up Free

Create your account at brixxle.com — it takes about a minute.

Enter your name, email, and a password, then choose the Event Seeker account type. We'll send a verification link to your inbox — click it to activate.

You can browse the map without an account. You'll want one to hold tickets and build a crew.

Find What's On

The map centres on where you are and shows every published event nearby.

Use the time strip to change how far ahead you're looking — tonight, this weekend, next month — and the list stays in sync with whatever the map is showing. Pin colours tell you how soon each one starts.

Switch cities from the location selector and BRIXXLE remembers it for next time.

Advanced Search

When a keyword search returns too much, Advanced Search cuts it down.

Filter by genre, the services on offer, date range, distance, and budget all at once — so you get the four events worth your evening instead of four hundred. Free events are always labelled, so you can filter to $0 and see everything on tonight for nothing.

Get Your Tickets

Pick a tier and check out — it takes seconds.

Payment runs through Stripe, so your card details never touch BRIXXLE. Free events issue a real ticket too — a $0 QR code, capped at four per person per tier so distribution stays fair.

No account yet? Guest checkout lets you buy with just an email, and you can set a password later to get back in.

Everything In One Place

Every ticket you hold lives on your Tickets page.

Each one carries a unique QR code for entry. Download it as a PDF, email it to yourself, or add it to your phone wallet — whatever gets you through the door fastest. Any services you booked are listed right alongside.

Getting In

Show your QR code and staff scan it. That's the whole process.

BRIXXLE confirms the ticket is valid and marks it redeemed on the spot. Each ticket works exactly once, so don't forward yours to a friend — buy them their own and you'll both walk in without an argument at the door.

Screenshot your QR before you arrive. Venues aren't always kind to phone signal.

Show it. Scan it. You're in.

Door staff read the QR on your ticket and it validates against the event in real time.

Go Together

Add the people you actually go out with.

Once you both confirm, you can see which events they're going to and send them anything you find. It's mutual by design — nobody can watch your plans without you agreeing to it first.

Use Send to Crew on any event page and it lands in their Crew Events.

Alerts & Favourites

Tap the heart on anything you like and it's saved.

Your Alerts inbox collects everything else in one place — crew requests, ticket confirmations, and changes to events you're holding tickets for. If something you've bought into moves or cancels, you hear about it here first.
